Water Shortage In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—City Engineer Charles Brakenridge said today a 28-hour prohibition on the use of water for sprinkling in the city was making a marked improvement in the water shortage situation. The ban went into effect at 6 p.m. yesterday. "The situation may be so improved and the weather may be cooler that it may not be necessary to impose further regulations for the time being," the engineer said.

dertaking an elk hunting trip through Arizona and Wyoming. The impressions gained on that trip left a lasting mark on the mind of the young musical composer and some time later Mr. Wister determined to write a novel based on experiences in the west.

A short time afterwards, he published "The Virginian," and leaped to fame. Mr. Wister wrote other books based on his knowledge of the west, but none attained the popularity of "The Virginian." That book was later dramatized and offered in the theatres of the United States and Canada with great success. A few years ago it was made into a movie.

Tender and expressive in his novels, Mr. Wister nevertheless wielded a caustic pen when he undertook to write about politics. His writings as a political idealist oftentimes brought down on him the wrath of the people to whom he referred and many were unable to reconcile the human passages in the novels written by Mr. Wister with the heavy bludgeon he wielded in his political writings.

In addition to "The Virginian," among Mr. Wister's best-known works are "The Dragon of Wantley—His Tail" (1892); "Red Men and White"; "The Jimmy John Boss"; "Philosophy Four"; "Journey in Search of Christmas"; "Lady Baltimore"; "The Simple Spelling Book"; "The Seven Ages of Washington"; "The Penetecost of Calamity" (1915); "The Ancient Grudge or a Straight Deal." He also was a contributor to magazines on many subjects.

He was born in Philadelphia, July 14, 1860. He married Miss Mary Channing Wister in 1898. She died in 1918, leaving, besides her husband, three girls and three boys.

PICKABACK PLANE SPANS ATLANTIC

terday, brought only newspapers and photographs, those of the Paris reception of King George and Queen Elizabeth. Some of the 1,000-pound cargo was for Montreal. The rest was taken on to New York.

BRIEF VISIT

After a brief "snatch" here, Capt. Bennett said he was "not tired, although we haven't slept for the past 24 hours."

He said the Mercury "cut loose from the mother ship at about 1,000 feet and after that things went fine, until we ran into strong headwinds and continuous rains after about an hour and a half. But we hit clear weather later."

They lunched over mid-ocean with "coffee and soup from flasks and mixed sandwiches," added Pilot Bennett.

To save gasoline, said the slim, dark-haired navigator, they throttled down on reaching Newfoundland, but their average airspeed across the Atlantic was 150 miles an hour.

OVERLAND

The Atlantic crossing was accomplished at 12:29 a.m., P.S.T., when the Mercury, 13 hours 29 minutes out of Foyines, passed over Cape Bauld, at the northern tip of Newfoundland, and headed inland without making the expected stop at Botwood.

Throughout the trip the Mercury was in touch with its base at Foyines or with the St. Hubert airport.

For the most part the seaplane flew around 7,000 feet. It came down to 5,000 feet, however, on reaching the Canadian shore.

Through the night Captain Bennett reported at regular intervals "going well" and "flying at moderate speed below clouds."

At 9 last night as the plane approached mid-ocean, "Coster reported unfavorable weather conditions. At that time, he said the plane, thundering with the full power of its four engines, was flying through "continuous rains" and was above "a turbulent sea."

But nearly four hours later they were flying into clear weather, averaging 145 miles an hour.

JASPER NATIONAL PARK, Alta. (CP)—Mount Columbia, 12,294 feet high at the apex of the main range of the Rockies, was scaled by women for the first time on Monday, it was announced at the Alpine Club here today.

The climbers were Misses Kathleen Chapman and Jean McDonald of Edmonton; Lillian Gest, Erie, Pa., and Christine Reid, Boston, Mass.

FRENCH PRESIDENT WILL MAKE STATE VISIT TO BRITAIN

With the King and the President on the reviewing stand were high French government and military officials.

The cavalry opened the parade at a trot and in the heaviest battle formation a cavalry troop can take. Ten yards from the reviewing stand all heads turned left towards the royal guest while the section commanders saluted with their sabres and the regimental standards dipped.

A mounted detachment of students from the St. Cyr Military School, in bright red breeches, light blue jackets and blue kepis presented a picturesque spectacle.

MACHINE GUNS

Immediately behind were three regiments of "modern" cavalry in khaki uniforms, rifles slung and carrying machine guns behind them.

Then followed the most brilliant colors of the entire parade. A brigade of northern African spahis passed before the stand in their costumes. First came a mounted regiment of Moroccan spahis wearing red turbans, stamped with the gold crescent of Islam, and white burnouses, and flowing pantaloons which fell on buff-colored boots.

MOUNTED ALGERIANS

Behind them was a mounted regiment of Algerian spahis, distinguished by their blue pantaloons and red tunics.

The colonial troops who proved their valor during the Great War, received a tremendous ovation from the crowd.

Suddenly the bands grouped around the tribune stopped playing and the light infantry appeared on the scene, at quick time, to the roll of drums. The chasseurs were in campaign kit and had exchanged their hand-some black berets for black steel helmets. Pale yellow facings lightened their dark blue uniforms.

Then, in even more severe outfit came the regular infantry in campaign uniform of khaki from head to foot. Nine regiments, identical in formation and appearance, marched past the reviewing stand with bayonets gleaming.

At the end of the infantry section came another splash of color—a regiment of Algerian sharpshooters in royal blue boleros, set off with pale yellow frogs, and bright red turbans.

ARTILLERY IN LINE

After a brief gap, the artillery came into view amid resounding cheers. Four groups of three batteries each, all drawn by tractors, formed the artillery section. The personnel rode on small armored caterpillar cars.

Then the roar of motors, the rattle of the steel armor, and the grinding of the caterpillar treads drowned out the trumpets and drums and the noise of the crowd as hundreds of tanks, caterpillar cars and armored motorcycles moved down the avenue.

The mechanized formations, representing the effectiveness of almost two light armored divisions, were the last in the great parade.

First came the motorcycle detachments, their drivers in steel and leather helmets. Then followed six squadrons of dragons riding in armored trucks instead of on horses, two automatic rifle squadrons and behind them the powerful tanks, camouflaged in brown and green.

Because of bad weather conditions, a mass flight of 600 warplanes was not held on schedule. Some squadrons of planes took to the sky, however.

The King arrived at Versailles at 11:05 a.m. (2:05 a.m., P.S.T.) and was welcomed with a salute of 101 guns. A company of marines rendered military honors on the platform as the train drew into the flower-decorated station. A company of halberdiers stood guard on the station stairs.

Today's parade apparently was arranged to outdo even Premier Benito Mussolini's great demonstration for Chancellor Adolf Hitler in Rome, May 3. It was considered significant that places were reserved in the reviewing stands for German and Italian military attaches.

The last such military display was on the eve of the Great War, when King George V came to France and declared, "With troops like those a country has nothing to fear."

Corrigan Sees His Plane Dismantled

Atlantic Flier at Dublin Scheduled to Sail for New York
July 30

DUBLIN (AP)—The "pride of the Corrigans," as the Irish call the young New York-Dublin flying hero, booked passage home today in the American liner Manhattan, sailing next week.

That done, Douglas Corrigan went shopping as any tourist. For his uncle he bought a shillelagh (typical cudgel) and for the rest of the family, postcards.

Then he saw his beloved plane dismantled at the Baldonnel Airport. The nine-year-old machine is to be sent home aboard the United States Maritime Commission's steamship Lehigh.

He plans a two-day visit to London before sailing from Cobh, July 30.

"I am still battling with the task of answering hundreds of cablegrams people keep sending me," the aviator said.

"I am still holding off on offers of contracts from Hollywood until I get home, but it's nix on night club appearances. I'm no crooner."

EXPOSITION FLIGHT

Asked about the possibility of a flight across the United States for the Golden Gate Exposition, he said: "My uncle must have fixed that up—it depends on United States authorities whether they release my plane. I am very doubtful if they will."

Corrigan is worried about what the home folk may do to him.

He has been getting along nicely in Ireland, chatting informally with the highest of the land, but the thought of a big welcome in the United States is something else again.

"I certainly hope they have stopped being Corrigan-mad when I get back to America," is how he puts it.

"A hero by mistake"—that "compass error" that took him to Ireland instead of California, you know—Corrigan apparently is willing to call off the rest of the show.

Today he turned down a five-year film contract with a guarantee of three pictures yearly—although yesterday he thought he might be interested in the movies—and refused a $20,000 vaudeville contract.

hours because of her husband's communistic activities she was alone with her children, Mrs. Lessard said.

"Where is your husband now?" she was asked.

"He's at work where he was yesterday," the 40-year-old blue-eyed woman answered. "But don't ask me where that is. I wouldn't know."

BLINDS DOWN

Cautioning her two children to leave drawn blinds in the modern third-story dwelling undisturbed, the woman, a red ribbon fastening her dark hair, frequently demanded the whereabouts of a Communist organizer.

"He knows all about this," she said, "and he should be here."

Mrs. Lessard has another child beside the two in the house. Meanwhile, provincial police maintained strict silence on their action, first application of the padlock law in Quebec City since the enabling act was passed by the Quebec Legislature at its last session.

Mrs. Lessard said that twice before literature was seized from her home by police.

"If we move it will only mean trouble again," she said. "They can take me to jail if they like, but I won't leave here of my own will."

Yesterday Lessard, some time after the visit of the police, told newspapermen as he waved a copy of the banned Communist paper, "Let them come, I'll have something to say when they do. I'm a British subject and I know my rights. This place is not a Communist centre."

In Montreal yesterday premises of the "Friends of the Soviet Union" and an alleged "Communist" school on St. Lawrence Boulevard were raided and padlocked by provincial officers.

FIVE HELD AT POWELL RIVER

Men Arrested at Blubber Bay During Strike Dispute

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—

Five men, whose names were withheld, were in custody of British Columbia Police here today as result of an altercation which took place between a group of striking employees and police at the Pacific Lime Company's place at Blubber Bay yesterday.

The trouble was believed to have started when a Chinese employee of the plant was allegedly attacked by another Chinese striker when he attempted to board a Vancouver-bound steamer.

A general rush followed at the wharf when a police constable stepped in to stop the alleged attack. Five men were arrested on charges of obstructing police in the execution of their duties.

STRIKE STARTED JUNE 2

The International Wood Workers of America called a strike of 21 white men and 70 Chinese at the lime plant operated by the company at Blubber Bay, 80 miles north of Vancouver, June 2.

Only members of the union affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization quit work and the plant continued to operate.

The strike was called by the union after a three-man board set up under the new British Columbia Conciliation and Arbitration Act had announced unanimous recommendations to end the dispute which started last March.

The company accepted the recommendations, but the union officials said their member of the board had agreed to them without consulting the union membership.

SASKATCHEWAN'S CROP SHRINKS

REGINA (CP)—Unofficial government estimates today placed Saskatchewan's 1938 wheat production at not more than 190,000,000 bushels.

During the next 10 days the crop is facing its most crucial period with rust, grasshoppers and hail threatening to make heavy inroads. Prospects of a bumper crop have faded.

During the last four days hail storms covering 190 square miles of territory laid thousands of acres of crop low, causing damage ranging from 20 per cent to total loss.

Potential yields have deteriorated materially during the last two weeks due to extreme dry weather in many districts. "White tip" is reported to be evident in many sections of the province.

fire's danger to untouched properties to the south and east of the area it had destroyed.

CAMPBELLTON SAFE

The village of Campbellton, on the fire's west flank, would remain safe as long as the wind remained in that quarter, firefighters said.

The forest office estimated today the fire was burning over 50,000 acres of timberland. Shaped like a crescent, it was about 20 miles long and approximately five miles wide.

The 1,000 men battling the fire took advantage of a lull in the wind yesterday to build fire breaks around Campbellton and the Comox Camp.

Meanwhile the Canadian destroyers St. Laurent and Fraser lay at Duncan Bay, prepared to evacuate residents of districts threatened by the blaze which started at Menzies Bay, 12 miles north of here, last week. Since then it has swept south through the holdings of four timber companies. A change of wind has sent it back northward over the area already burned.

Advancing flames forced firefighters to evacuate their station at Elk Falls, between Campbell River and Forbes Landing.

The fire, described as one of worst, if not the worst, in Vancouver Island's record, advanced 15 miles south to from 10 to 15 miles north of Courtenay before a brisk wind Tuesday night.

Forestry officials said they believed they had a good chance of saving the Comox Landing Camp and Campbellton, near here, with a moderate wind. The only hope of completely extinguishing the blaze immediately however was a heavy rain.

CONDITIONS HAZARDOUS

Throughout the Pacific Northwest the above-normal hot weather continued, with predictions of record highs for the year being reached today at Seattle and other points. A thick smoke pall covers much of the area.

Revised unofficial estimates indicated that more than 100,000 acres of timber, most of it cut-over or logged-over, had been blackened in less than two weeks. About 5,000 fighters are on all fronts.

The combination of high temperatures and low humidity, plus widespread incendiarism, were blamed for the outbreak, the worst in many years.

On the 35,000-acre Ryderwood-Abernethy fire in Washington State, fighters were able to hold their own during the night. Clarence Vandercook, Long-Bell Lumber Company logging superintendent, said nearly 1,000 men were fighting it. The blaze was not controlled.

WARSHIPS GO UP YANGTZE

Japanese Send More Troops to Join in Battle Against Chinese

SHANGHAI (AP)—Japanese warships began Thursday the transport of heavy reinforcements into the upper Yangtze battle area, where the Japanese army is stalled in its drive toward Hankow.

From their precarious positions along the south bank of the Yangtze, the Japanese tried another bombing attack in the Kiang sector, 135 miles down river from the provisional Chinese capital.

Chinese accounts said more than 300 bombs were dropped in the vicinity of Kluikiang, and that 30 persons were killed and a number injured at Siaokiao, which was wrecked.

A Japanese naval officer announced Japanese planes had bombed and sunk two Chinese gunboats, a munitions transport and loaded lighters in Taungting Lake.

Franco Starts Wide Campaign

Insurgent Offensive on All Fronts in Spain as Well as Toward Valencia

HENDAYE, France (AP)—Insurgents unleashed a general offensive in eastern, central and southern Spain today against government lines weakened by Gen. Franco's steady drive toward Valencia.

The stream of shells over long-besieged Madrid signalled the renewal of large-scale warfare in all sections of Spain.

Government Gen. Jose Miaja's veteran troops, drawn from central and southern fronts, were concentrated in eastern Spain for the defence of Valencia, where they were being beaten back slowly along the Teruel-Mediterranean highway by mechanized Italian units in desperate battles which took heavy tolls.

NEW ONTARIO PARTY LEADER

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. W. Earl Rowe, leader of the Ontario Conservative Party since 1936, today placed his resignation before the annual meeting here of the Ontario Conservative Association, to take effect as soon as a successor could be elected.

Before the 600 association members had time to discuss the question of leadership, a major topic since the party's defeat at the polls in last October's general election, Mr. Rowe announced from the platform his desire to retire from the position.

Since elected party leader at a convention in Toronto in 1936, Mr. Rowe has been without a seat in the Legislature. He is M.P. for Dufferin-Simcoe.

William H. Ireland of Trenton, president of the association, announced his retirement from the position.

REICH GOAL IS SETTLEMENT

Chamberlain Tells British Commons of New Assurances

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today Great Britain had received from Chancellor Hitler's confidential envoy renewed assurances of the government "of their desire to achieve a peaceful settlement of outstanding questions."

The Prime Minister said these assurances had been given to Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, by Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, the German Fuehrer's representative.

Mr. Chamberlain gave this reply to a question as to what had been discussed at last Monday night's confidential discussion here between Lord Halifax and Hitler's envoy.

"In the course of his recent visit to London, Capt. Wiedemann had an informal conversation with the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs."

"Capt. Wiedemann did not come prepared to discuss any particular aspect of political affairs, but the conversation enabled him, owing to his contact with authoritative circles in Germany, to renew the assurances already given by the German government of their desire to achieve a peaceful settlement of outstanding questions."

The German visitor saw the Foreign Secretary at his home the evening before Lord Halifax left for Paris, accompanying the King and Queen on their visit of state.

PARIS DISCUSSION

This lent added importance to the talk, which is understood to have figured vitally in Lord Halifax's conversations with Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Bonnet in Paris.

The Prime Minister's statement was interpreted here as an indication that Wiedemann's visit might lead to the reopening of negotiations for a broad Anglo-German political settlement.

BODY FOUND IN COLUMBIA RIVER

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Columbia River at Vancouver, Wash., yesterday gave up the body of Forrest Collier Burrill, 39, Portland lumberman whose disappearance last June 8 provided one of the most puzzling police cases in recent years.

The body was found in an automobile discovered near a dock when the river level dropped. He attended a lumber meeting at the Portland Golf Club last June 8 and drove away alone never to be seen alive again.

The case still is clouded on the cause of Burrill's disappearance. Friends and family said his affairs, both at home and in his business, were in excellent shape, his health had been good and he was not known to have any cause for despondency.

Settlement Plan For The Empire

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Devonshire, chairman of the Overseas Settlement Board, warned the House of Lords last night that the falling birthrate in the Commonwealth made it urgent that the Dominion should be populated, as it might be too late a generation hence.

The son of a former Governor-General of Canada declared the Empire was regarded by many land-hungry countries as a dog in the manger, holding a large area of the earth, unable or unwilling to occupy and develop it, but preventing others settling it.

"This frame of mind on the part of land-hungry nations is not conducive to peaceful or settled international relations," the duke declared.

He mentioned Canada's high birthrate was "confined to one section of the population."

An immediate and constructive approach to the problem of settling the Empire—a problem "vital to the very existence of the commonwealth"—was urged by Lord Snell, Labor leader, in opening debate on the report of the Overseas Settlement Board issued in May.

"I venture to say our retention of the Dominions and colonies can only be defended if we do our best to try to develop them along the right lines. We may be sure that if we do not we shall be driven into a state of danger."

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL

Any young man desirous of trying his luck in any part of the King's Dominions should be afforded every opportunity to do so, he said.

The Labor peer declared migration should not be advocated on the grounds it would solve unemployment. The question must be dealt with on other lines, as such an approach served to instill suspicion in the Dominions. Alluding to foreign immigrants, Lord Snell said:

"I hope we shall not knowingly produce groups of nationalities in our Dominion and so create difficulties to which I could point to as existing in the world at present."

Viscount Stonehaven, former Governor-General of Australia, said he believed any successful migration schemes must be achieved co-operatively between the Mother Country and the Dominions.

Large scale of experiments in land settlement in the past had proved to be failures and had caused harm in many directions, Lord Stonehaven maintained.

Calgary Votes For Oil Plant

CALGARY (CP)—Ratepayers of Calgary yesterday supported the building of a $1,350,000 oil refinery by the British-American Oil Company Limited in East Calgary.

In a double plebiscite they also authorized civic authorities to borrow $250,000 for a works relief program from the federal government.

Under the terms of the agreement with the oil company, work on the refinery will be started shortly, giving employment for about six months to 400 skilled and unskilled workmen.

The works relief funds will be sought under the federal $300,000 municipal loan plan for self-liquidating projects in municipalities.

GOOD WHEAT PRICE URGED

OTTAWA (CP)—Prairie Canada now enjoys prospects of a widely distributed wheat crop of good volume for the first time since 1932, Premier John Bracken of Manitoba said yesterday as he asked the Dominion Government to fix the minimum price of wheat on as generous a basis as possible.

The Premier conferred with Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce and chairman of the cabinet wheat committee, on the price question and also asked that a price be fixed for durum wheat and the spread between this variety and No. 1 northern be kept as narrow as possible.

Under the Wheat Board Act the government must fix shortly a minimum price which the Wheat Board will pay farmers on wheat delivered to the board. This is an initial price as the farmers also receive participation certificates entitling them to share in any profits made by the board.

In a letter to Mr. Euler setting forth his views the Premier recalled that income from wheat derived on the prairies in each of the last six years was about $200,000,000 below the average return in the period from 1926 to 1930. This was due to low yields and low prices.

Because of poor yields improved prices since 1933 meant little in the way of real recovery so far as the farmers were concerned.

"It now appears," Mr. Bracken said, "that the volume of wheat production in western Canada will be sufficient to materially improve the employment situation, not only in the west, but also in eastern Canada through increased tonnage for our railroads and increased business for all those affected by the western wheat crop."

Canada's Problem Province

French Have Political, But English Have Economic Control—And French Politicians "Sell Out"

By J. B. McGEACHY
 No. 10

This is the last of these pieces on Quebec. They may have conveyed a sketchy idea of the state of affairs in that remarkable province. I would like to go back to Quebec. After maybe five years, I might know something about Quebec politics. At the moment I am conscious of knowing a little more than nothing.

The proper reason for going to Quebec, of course, is not to study politics but to enjoy life. Enjoyment of life is supremely possible in Montreal. The French-Canadians are lively and charming. Their city is the most seductive in Canada. It is pleasant to walk on Sherbrooke Street, to listen to a French audience applauding vaudeville acts in a St. Catherine Street theatre, to eat lunch in a French cafe on Labelle Street, where the host knows all the clients, respectable wine is 50 cents a pint, the talk is gay and there is jugged hare on Monday, vol-au-vent on Tuesday; bouillabaisse on Wednesday, and so on to the end of the week. Ah, mes amis, what agreeable cookery and conversation.

Another thing I would like to mention, as perhaps of interest to English Canada, is the bilingualism of Quebec. I talked to many French-Canadians. Some of them were men of affairs, but others were ordinary people in shops and cafes, ticket-sellers at theatres, taxi drivers, newsboys. I met only one French-Canadian who could not speak English. This was a cheery stout man who keeps a pub in Quebec City. He has not bothered to learn English because all his customers speak French. My fragmentary French pleased him greatly. An "Anglais" from the outside world who could talk with him—that was an event in his pub. He stood me two beers.

POLITEST IN WORLD

In rural Quebec, I suppose, there are many people who do not know English. In Montreal everybody I met could speak it well and was glad to do so for my benefit. I had expected to encounter French-Canadians who would be difficult about this language question, would refuse, on principle, to speak anything but French. I did not meet one like this. About language the French-Canadian has his views, and they may be strenuous, but he is the politest man in the world. If any English-Canadian thinks it nothing remarkable that knowledge of English is general in Montreal, he should remember that 80 per cent of the people in Quebec are French and that French is an official language.

French-Canadian politics are too complicated for me, but I feel pretty sure of one thing. Quebec is not about to break away from Confederation and set up a separate Fascist state. I do not think there is any sinister plot of that sort afoot. It is true that some people in Quebec discuss politics in a slightly conspiratorial manner, as though they had secrets to reveal if they only could or would. Talk about Fascist agents at work heightens the effects. Well-balanced people who live in Quebec begin to see things that probably aren't there. One man I met is convinced there are guns and ammunition in the cellar of the St. Sulpice Seminary—next door to Notre Dame Cathedral on the Place d'Armes. I don't know about this. I only think it probably isn't so.

MANY ENEMIES TO BATTLE

The French-Canadians are undoubtedly discontented and vaguely in revolt against something or other. But they say too many different things and they attack too many different "enemies" to make it plausible that there is a concerted nationalist movement, with a defined objective, in progress.

Arcand, the serio-comic leader of the Fascist blue-shirts, pretends to think that everything will be rosy in Quebec if only democracy is abolished and the Jews are removed. Other "enemies" selected for castigation by French-Canadian factions—looking around for heads to smite—are the English, the trusts, the banks, the Communists, the clergy, the "old gang"—meaning the last government. Out of this turmoil of discontent, it seems reasonable to think, will emerge a political movement with a clear purpose. It may be a progressive movement. It may be reactionary. The direction of it isn't visible yet. Politics in Quebec are in a state of flux.

The reason for discontent, it seemed to me, is the cleavage between political control and economic leadership in Quebec. The French-Canadians with their voting power, naturally dominate politics. They run the show at the Legislative Building in Quebec and the city in Montreal—the

Time for Salesmanship

IT IS BEING SUGGESTED THAT THE pre-fabricated wooden house may be the means of giving the next big lift to British Columbia's lumber industry. We are told that Scotland's new housing scheme includes provision for 3,000 cedar dwellings, and that while these houses will not be of the part-manufactured type in the ordinary sense, they may create a considerable demand for this province's woods.

Any prospect of a renewed and greater demand by the British or any other market for the forest products of British Columbia is good news under many heads. The lumber industry of this province is one of our chief economic bulwarks, not only because of its own demand for labor, but also because, directly or indirectly, almost every business activity is involved.

The type of house contemplated in the Scottish scheme is one of solid wall cedar—a wood this province is able to produce in abundance, and which ordinarily lacks ready sale. We are also informed, incidentally, that the British Columbia lumber industry is experimenting with a lighter type of wooden house, likewise of cedar, for the West Indies and South America, and it is suggested an important market may be created for it in these countries.

Discussion of the pre-fabricated house takes us back nearly 20 years, when this newspaper gave much prominence to Hon. T. D. Pattullo's enthusiasm over the possibility of creating a market in the British Isles and in other countries for this kind of ready-made dwelling. At that time the present Premier was Minister of Lands. His idea took form in the early part of 1923, when preliminaries were begun in connection with British Columbia's exhibit in the Canadian Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley in the following year. The result was a complete bungalow constructed solely of regular grades of British Columbia timber—including Douglas fir, cedar, hemlock and cottonwood. The whole structure, particularly the magnificent interior theme and finish, was a revelation to the building trades and the public.

Some idea of the appeal of that model house, both from the artistic point of view and its obvious durability, was reflected by the fact that between 2,000 and 3,000 visitors passed through it hourly for many weeks. Several technical and not a few topical magazines and newspapers made much of it in word and picture. British Columbia's "house timber" market in Britain looked like being a huge success.

The provincial government of that time, and Mr. Pattullo in particular, had laid the foundations for the building up of what was thought to be then—as it appears to be 14 years later—quite a lucrative business which would not only popularize British Columbia woods among the somewhat hard-shelled timber importers of the United Kingdom, but also attract, partly by this indirect method of approach, capital for investment in the province.

It is not for us to suggest that the industry, whose way to new and wider markets had been paved by the government, failed to step out boldly along it. There may have been difficulties of which we, the uninitiated in the realm of lumber salesmanship, know nothing; but it can be presumed that if the pre-fabricated house now is considered by our timber manufacturers a practical proposal to push in the United Kingdom, it ought to have been doubly so when the "working model" was on view at the greatest exhibition ever staged by the British Empire. That it would seem, was the psychological time to capitalize the publicity which had been given to Mr. Pattullo's original idea.

It is worth while reminding our exporting industrialists, moreover, that a government can assist them only up to a point. Beyond that it is for them to go after the business. British buyers, as is well known, are not easily diverted from the channels of supply to which they have become bound by custom—as well as price. But, being good salesmen themselves, they naturally recognize good salesmanship in others, and will listen to argument. That is a truism which our would-be exporters of pre-fabricated houses perhaps are pondering.

The Totalitarian Way

INQUISITIVE MEMBERS OF THE House of Commons today wanted to know what Captain Fritz Wiedemann, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's personal friend and envoy, had been doing in London.

Premier Chamberlain replied that the gentleman in question had a confidential chat with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax on Monday night and that: "Captain Wiedemann did not come prepared to discuss any particular aspect of political affairs, but the conversation enabled him, owing to his contact with authoritative circles in Germany, to renew the assurances already given by the German government of their desire to achieve a peaceful settlement of outstanding questions."

That Hitler's personal friend and aide-de-camp should visit London of the eve of King George's visit to France may or may not be a coincidence. But it savors a little of the Von Ribbentrop technique as employed on a former occasion when events were moving in the British capital.

Another little reminder of totalitarian good faith, incidentally, was the charge made yesterday by Spain's Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo that Italian troops still were entering insurgent Spain, despite the London nonintervention committee's recent agreement for withdrawal of foreign soldiers. This information was conveyed to British and French newspaper correspondents who were at Barcelona for the observance of the second anniversary of the civil war. The Minister also intimated that an Italian captain taken prisoner had admitted that full Italian divisions had been concentrated on the eastern front to aid the insurgent drive on Valencia.

A dispatch from Rome contained the information that Premier Mussolini predicted victory for insurgent Spain before the civil war was another year old, that he had conveyed this optimistic view to Fascist General Franco to mark the war's second anniversary. Il Duce's telegram also contained this: "Fascist Italy is proud to have contributed blood and equipment to your victory over the destructive forces of Spain and Europe."

The foregoing items of news carry their own commentary. But the record to date of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini does not appear to furnish the sort of guarantee on which any democratic government could place much faith.

The gentleman who now has 73,000,000 Germans virtually in the hollow of his hand loses no opportunity of assuring Great Britain that his principal object is peace. But his "Mein Kampf" is still a best seller. Italy's dictator, of course, conducts himself as if the Chamberlain ministry were a parish council in Patagonia.

Canada's Blind

WE CAN READILY BELIEVE THE statement—it is true of Victoria—that in some parts of Canada it is a rare thing to see a blind person on the streets. The annual report of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, however, discloses the fact that there are now in the Dominion 9,450 men, women and children who must get along without the use of their eyes. There are 734 in British Columbia, 443 in Alberta, 583 in Saskatchewan, 581 in Manitoba, 3,057 in Ontario, 2,748 in Quebec, 105 in Prince Edward Island, 438 in New Brunswick and 748 in Nova Scotia. There are 235 in Newfoundland.

The work of the institute to whose report we have referred furnishes conclusive proof that organized humanitarian effort can achieve much more than is generally supposed. As the statistics intimate, the sightless citizens of Canada now number nearly 9,500, but even this serious state of affairs can be faced without dismay. For we are told: "The other side of the picture contains a record of successful achievement which has engendered the certainty that the problems they present can be solved. There are no obstacles in front of us as formidable as those we have overcome. The day will never come when every blind person in the country will bask in idle luxury, but the time will undoubtedly arrive when willing and vigorous blind people will have no cause to fear unemployment; when the blind who are infirm or aged will be provided for and when blindness which can be prevented will cease to be a major factor in adding to our registration."

These statements are made, says the institute's report, "not as a result of frothy optimism," but because the organization's experience has taught it that such objectives are within its power to bring about. All credit is due to the officials concerned who have accomplished so much for the blind people of Canada in 20 years of concentrated effort. Their work should have the most practical support of the people of this country.

MR. BENNETT AND THE PRESS
J. B. M. in Winnipeg Free Press
Mr. Bennett was sensitive to criticism and that explains his unhappy relations, at least in the first part of his regime, with the press. He regarded newspaper men as a nuisance, which of course they are meant to be—to politicians. He scolded them, lectured them, and at one time threatened to lock them up—with no smile on his face—if they were too inquisitive.

Mr. Bennett disliked newspapers because he was too proud to solicit their good opinion, too sensitive to accept their criticism. He would not recognize that the true editorial function of newspapers is to let public opinions—note the plural—find expression. He would not concede that the democratic system cannot work at all, as it cannot, without constant publication of news about it and comment on it... which was the defect of his qualities of intellectual strength and pride.

"You told me, neither do you spin," he once said to Press Gallery men at a social gathering. "Only yawns, Mr. Prime Minister," one of them replied. That pleased Mr. Bennett. He likes a quick answer. But he didn't retract it.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LOST INSPIRATION

MR. HEMBLOCK has lost his inspiration. The main spring broke.

For years we have been accustomed to the curious ways of Mr. Hemblock. Whenever you go by his little cottage you hear his gramophone playing some ancient tune, for Mr. Hemblock hasn't had money to buy a new record since "Moonlight and Roses," and that came out, as I recall, about 1924.

Mr. Hemblock has grown terribly dependent on music. He says it comforts his soul and improves his digestion, which is equally important. So he plays the gramophone all day, until "Moonlight and Roses" is almost worn out now and you can hardly tell it from "Yes We Have No Bananas," still a prime favorite.

When Mr. Hemblock rises in the morning he usually plays one of Sousa's marches. He says there is nothing to pep you up in the morning and get you off to a good start like a Sousa march. Whenever we hear "The Washington Post" or the "Liberty Bell" march playing at Mr. Hemblock's we know that he is up and making his ablutions.

He nearly always washes his neck to the music of the "Liberty Bell March." It helps him make a good clean job.

Mr. Hemblock cooks his own simple breakfast and digests it with something soft and sweet like the "Melody in F" or "Selections From Robin Hood." It helps his stomach ulcer.

Mr. Hemblock hasn't much work to do, living on the old age pension, but sometimes when he's chopping his kindling you'll hear him playing "The Soldiers' Chorus." He swings his hatchet in time with the martial music, and it is surprising how much kindling you can cut if you have "The Soldiers' Chorus" to help you along.

Then in the evening you'll always hear "Moonlight and Roses" at Mr. Hemblock's. It soothes him down for the night, he says, if he's sleepless. Whenever we hear "Moonlight and Roses" we say to ourselves that poor Mr. Hemblock has insomnia again. I don't think we can stand much more insomnia from Mr. Hemblock. It gets awfully tiresome after a while, especially when you can hardly tell it from "Yes We Have No Bananas" or God Save the King.

Well, the mainspring of Mr. Hemblock's machine broke today with a loud report, and he could hardly wash his neck this morning, and he says his indigestion is bad again and probably he won't cut any kindling or sleep any more until his main spring is repaired. This won't be until his next pension is paid, investment here.

HISTORICAL NOTE

OF COURSE, it is only the prejudice of the aged, but I don't like this new kind of lacrosse, played in a wooden box. I saw my first box game at Beacon Hill Park the other night and, frankly, I was disappointed. I had heard it described as the fastest game in the world, the most spectacular, and on the mainland huge crowds attend every performance, and commercially it is an enormous success. But, speaking as an old lacrosse player who once won a gold medal for lacrosse in the entrance class, (the gold has long since worn off, showing the barren metal beneath), I still don't like this new improvement.

We used to play out in Beacon Hill, 12 or 15 to a side (I forget which) a whole tribe of us, like the Indians who invented the game, and we used to cover a vast area, ranging freely across the countryside on the comfortable grass. Now they coop you up in a box, where you have no elbow room, and the dust chokes you and there is no space for any kind of strategy and manoeuvre.

It is nice for the spectators, though, because they are closer to the play and that is what counts in athletics nowadays. The whole American continent is becoming a spectator, instead of a player. Millions go to see football games, hockey games, box games, but how many play in them? Perhaps one hundredth of one per cent. We have approached the advanced stage of decay reached in ancient Rome when the decadent public had to be amused and kept in order with gladiatorial games. Very shortly some really enterprising sport promoter, one of the fellows who gave us modern wrestling, is going to introduce swords and spears and guarantee at least five killings a night, and the public, like the yammering mobs of Rome, will love it. In my day we didn't play very good lacrosse, but everybody tried to play, and we enjoyed it in our primitive fashion. But we, of course, weren't civilized.

Another myth in smithereens: Stalwart male strutters on the beaches are hereby advised that hair on the chest is no indication of strength. The growth of bodily hair is merely due to glandular development, not muscular power.

Wife—Wake up, Henry! There's a burglar going through your pockets.
Husband (rolling over)—Oh, you two just fight it out between yourselves.

A scientist tells us that improvements never come singly, but in groups. For instance, raisin pie became popular soon after window screens came in.

IN CASE YOU DON'T KNOW

The famed Caesarian operation is used about 22 times out of every 1,000 births in this country. . . . Today's best-selling book, "In His Steps" (exceeded only by the Bible), returned relatively little to its author, Charles M. Sheldon, because of a trivial oversight. When it was first published in a church paper, The Advance, they sent only one copy to the Library of Congress at Washington, instead of two, as required by law. As soon as it became known the book was free property, other publishers hopped to it and rolled off thousands of editions, royalty free. A total of 23,000,000 copies were sold. And all Sheldon collected was $1,000 from a soft-hearted publisher and $275 from the church paper originally printing his work.

ELECTRICITY IN THE HOME

Correspondent, Public Service Magazine

"My electric light bill is not just a light bill. It covers more items for comfortable, healthy and happy living than any other bill we get.

"A few years ago our home was made 'all electric' and now I realize that the electric bill, low as it is, pays for:

"Fast, easy and excellent cooking with a simply-regulated range.

"Heat that is quick, automatically controlled, clean and healthful.

"Refrigeration that's better, surer and more economical than the old type.

"The joy and comfort of abundant hot water at all hours.

"Perfect laundering without work, by means of the washing machine and ironer.

"Housecleaning rapidly and thoroughly done by the vacuum and floor polisher.

"An effortless method of sewing, mending and darning with the modern sewing machine and its many attachments.

"Several attractive appliances that make delightful refreshments for guests.

"Entertainment and amusement via the radio, electric trains and games.

"The accuracy of electric clocks.

"The convenience of heating pads, hair driers, vibrators and many more 'gadgets'.

"And, of course, a lot of light.

"So, considering the matter from every angle, we feel that our electric dollar buys more real service than any dollar we spend."

CENSORSHIP IN AUSTRALIA

From Manchester Guardian
"Gagging" of opinion is fundamental today in the dictatorships of Italy, Germany and Japan. Recent events seem to show that Australia is moving towards a similar censorship of free speech, though not without strong criticism from the press and radio.

The federal government's book, film and theatre censorship shows that "Australia" is by stages becoming a government dictatorship. The prohibition of such books as Aldous Huxley's "Eyeless in Gaza" and the cutting of films like "The Road Back" because they were said to be detrimental to morality, have made Australian officialdom a laughing-stock. It is also recalled that at the time of Mr. Eden's resignation the Prime Minister, Mr. Lyons, requested newspaper editors all over Australia to refrain from expressing rash editorial opinions.

Australians are wondering where next the censorship will be enforced. Newspaper editors and broadcasting stations are strenuously resisting the "gagging" of opinion, and it remains to be seen whether the Lyons government will be forced to climb down from its dictatorial perch.

EXPENDITURE ON ADVERTISING

From New York Sun
L. D. H. Weld, research director of McCann-Erickson, estimated in today's Printers Ink that $1,768,000,000 was spent in the United States in all forms of advertising last year. Newspapers received $570,000,000; Dr. Weld said. Magazines, $165,000,000; radio, $165,000,000; outdoor, $50,000,000, and farm papers, $18,000,000. Direct mail premiums, business papers, etc., accounted for the rest.

HOPE!

From Regina Leader-Post
Southern Alberta farmers report that sow thistle is of great value in keeping land from drifting. They regard it as a most useful plant. Some day we may find something useful about fleas and mosquitoes.

MANY ENJOY PARK CONCERT

Large Number of People Gather at Beacon Hill as B.C. Electric Guests

A large number of Victorians and visitors to the city gathered in Beacon Hill Park last night, sat under the trees, beside the shimmering lake and listened to some fine music provided by a symphony orchestra and a group of well-known singers. The program was sponsored by the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

Seldom has an evening been so perfect for an outdoor concert. The bandstand was outlined in lights; colored lights from the old stone bridge gleamed in the waters of Goodacre Lake and the beautiful old trees on the tiny islands were also spotlighted.

Alfred Prescott directed the orchestra, composed mostly of young people in their teens who had learned the fundamentals of fine music in their high school days. The program which lasted 90 minutes, was thoroughly enjoyable and the large audience—estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000—ple who have no children talk about them.

"Boys and girls are just as anxious today to get married as they were 100 years ago; but usually the boy cannot get work."

persons—applauded whole heartedly.

The assisting artists were Winifred Applegate, a rising young singer who has a lovely young voice of surprising range, and Thomas Crabbe, whose fine baritone was heard to good advantage. Their duet, gems from "The Student Prince," with the accompaniment of the orchestra was exceptionally fine.

Schubert's ever-popular and delightful "Rosamunde Overture" was very well played and seemed particularly suited to such a fine summer evening. Franz Lehar's "Gold and Silver Waltz" was another well played number; the three dances from German's "Henry VIII Suite," and the "Marche Militaire" by Saint-Saens were also on the program.

Loan For Vancouver Water Main Scheme

VANCOUVER (CP)—Civic officials yesterday received word from Ottawa regarding the city's application for a $1,140,000 loan for water mains and schools.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, wired that the Minister of Finance was satisfied with the application for $750,000 by the water board, but added that the school board's petition was still under consideration.

The applications were made under the $30,000,000 federal low-interest self-liquidating loan fund for municipalities.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. H. W. Curtis. Tea was served from a table covered with a handsome fluted lace cloth and effectively decorated in a color scheme of pink and green, with a beautiful bowl of roses, sweet peas and gailardia on a mirror centerpiece. The birthday cake, with its quota of lighted candles and tall green tapers, occupied a place of honor. The many lovely gifts destined for the guest of honor were placed at one end of the tea-table. Contests caused much merriment and were won by the Misses Thelma and Doreen Dopp, Vivian Curtis, and Kay Waterman, Mrs. D. W. Dopp, Mrs. H. A. Waterman, Mrs. W. W. Harris and Mrs. H. W. Curtis.

Members of the old Harmony Basketball Team surprised Miss Alexander at her home on Queens Avenue, and as the girls filed past, every one presented the bride-to-be with a pretty gift. Sweet peas in pastel shades formed the attractive decorations in the reception rooms. The evening was spent recalling schoolyard highlights and incidents. A sit-down supper was later served from a prettily appointed table having a centerpiece of mauve and pink sweet peas in a silver vase, lighted by tall tapers in silver holders. Miss Lois Macmurechie presided while Miss Elsie Mathews assisted in serving. Former Islands M.P.P. Wed Yesterday

Miss Muriel Larson Is Bride of Mr. Alex. McDonald

Against a background of roses, gypsophila and marguerites in the chapel of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, Vancouver, yesterday morning, Muriel, daughter of Mrs. Andrew M. Larson and the late A. M. Larson, became the bride of Mr. Alexander McDonald, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald. The groom is a former M.P.P. for the Islands riding. The bride was a former resident of Victoria.

Rev. Gordon Dickie officiated. Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Marion Gildersleeve and Miss Muriel Ramsay.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank T. Larson of Quebec, had chosen a graceful princess gown of white satin. The full puffed sleeves ended in deep fitted cuffs, while the yoke neckline and inset medallions were of Bruges lace. Her shoulder veil was held in place by a small turban and she carried a shower bouquet of blush Ophelia roses and white carnations.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Beatrice Larson wore a net gown of the palest pink, with matching straw vanity model hat. Similarly gowned in pale blue was Miss Margaret Spence, who had come from Ottawa to act as bridesmaid. Miss Spence is the daughter of the late Col. and Mrs. David Spence of Brantford, Ont.

Mr. F. W. Banks supported the groom.

A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony, when, to receive her guests, Mrs. Larson chose a gown of royal blue silk crepe, with yoke and sleeves of cut velvet. A small metallic turban, with short veil, and corsage of tea roses completed her costume.

When Mr. and Mrs. McDonald left for their wedding trip by motor in the northwest states, the bride wore a tailored traveling suit in navy blue, with white satin blouse and white accessories. They will also tour Vancouver Island before taking up their residence in North Saanich.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh, boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two-quart container. While hot, add 1 to 1½ cups of granulated sugar and juice of 2 lemons, strained. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water, otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chopped ice.

"SALADA" ICED TEA

Does Your Breath Broadcast—"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

Most people who wear plates or bridges suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it "denture breath." You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing cannot prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucus-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing can stop "denture breath"—and that's Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists. Users say it's a blessing. Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 40¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10-15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified ready to use!

Prevents "Denture Breath"

GEE IT'S HOT! Let's talk about swimming

Since the experts brought out that unguai, though apparently effective butterfly arm action for breast stroke, there have been few, if any, new developments in the science of human aquatic locomotion.

It will be interesting to see what comes next. The highly-vaunted improvements, the Japanese were supposed to have given the orthodox crawl have more or less been rationalized. They weren't changes. They were, at the most, slight modifications of the systems used on this continent for some years. Where the Japanese surpassed themselves was in superb condition and rather flawless adherence to proper technique.

Some day someone will come out with a radical new development, as different from the crawl as the crawl was from the trudgeon, as the trudgeon, with its scissor-kick, was from the overarm, as the overarm was from the side-stroke, and as the side-stroke was from the good old-fashioned, frog-kicking breast stroke.

Few have seriously given thought to a system of spiraling through the water, but that's one way in which the speed of a bullet, shot from a gun, is increased. Rifling might work in water as well as in the air.

At present, particularly in breast stroke, under-water work is being stressed. There is doubtless a scientific reason for a swimmer gaining greater speed under water, but the average coach hasn't yet had it explained. But without the explanation, it is a proven fact that breast-stroke covers short distances in less time under water than they do on the surface. Unfortunately lack of air and development of fatigue poisoning force them to the top after the first 20 or 30 yards, but even with that break, some return below the surface for stretches of three or four strokes after they have come up from the dive and refueled.

Some coaches are considering adopting a butterfly technique to start off free-style swimming. Those who have tried it declare the double-arm recovery practiced by a specialized swimmer will jump ahead of the field. The rub comes when the butterfly expert strives to regain his balance following the stroke.

It's just a question whether or not the side-paddle action of such back-stroke stars as Adolph Kiefer marks a general change in technique or whether that dorsal crawl artist simply finds the side-arm sweep specially adapted to his mode of performance. The orthodox back-stroke swimmer pulls deep with his arms on the theory that a side-sweep would pull him off his course. Kiefer ignored that axiom and broke records. Several of the Kiefer followers shied through the water, swinging from side to side. And with the specific exception of the renowned Adolph, it's doubtful if the change has assisted any in increasing speed.

On Friday those who are interested in the relative merits of the butterfly and the straight breast stroke will probably have a chance to size them up in a smart race at the Crystal Garden. Lennie Stark, local Y.M.C.A. boy who has been improving consistently in the orthodox stroke, will be racing against George Caddy, Seattle P.N.A. champion, who is expected to use the over-arm recovery for at least part of the distance in the 200-yard event.

Getting away from the swimming — spectators on Friday should see some right smart diving. Lynda Adams and George Athans of Vancouver can claim attention through their own right. They have lots of stuff and are still rising. Chuck Redding, the Seattle boy who likes to recall he was coached by Pinkston, the maker of Dick Degener, is also

I.B.A.A. Oarsmen in Great Shape For N.P.A.A.O. in Vancouver Tomorrow

"I think we have more than an even chance of sweeping the regatta," Dan Moses, coach of the James Bay Athletic Association, declared today as his charges prepared to leave tonight for Vancouver to meet Terminal City oarsmen in the two-day N.P.A.A.O. meet at Coal Harbor tomorrow and Saturday.

Dan was particularly enthusiastic about his smooth-stroking eight. Last night the boys showed a great turn of speed in their final workout, finishing their sprint with nine strokes in 10 seconds.

Last year, eights of Victoria and Vancouver finished in a tie. The crew this year has exceptional smoothness, despite the presence in the boat of three new men. Jim Temple is showing excellent form at stroke and the crew generally has a sweet rhythm.

Max Winkler, singles champion and stroke of the senior doubles, finished his preparations for the big regatta in great shape and is expected to repeat his triumphs of last year.

Tackweight and junior events will be held tomorrow, and senior, lightweight, war canoe and novelty races Saturday.

The evening was rounded off with the local club demonstrating styles and speed. The principle demonstrators were Eleanor Feden, Hazel Smith, Florence Hyatt, Gordon Lawrence, Bob Smirl, Bob Doherty and Len Stark.

capable of clever aerial performances.

George and Lynda have good followings locally. They've come up the hard way, working at the sport on inadequate equipment in Vancouver and taking the bumps as they learned their stunts. They were good enough to finish in the money in the Australian Empire Games and, given the breaks, should go somewhere in U.S. specialized circles.

On form they are a pair of pretty divers. Under any circumstances, they are a couple of well kids.

TEAMS SHARE BOXLA LEAD

Indians and Conservatives Ties For Leadership in Second Division Race

By virtue of victories scored last night, Victoria Indians and Conservatives are still bracketed in the top berth of the second division box-lacrosse race. The Braves took the measure of Cox's Bakery, 17 to 8, at Victoria West Park, while the Conservatives defeated the Navy, 15 to 7, at Athletic Park.

At Vic West the Indians were trailing for the first two sessions, but came to life to enjoy a wide margin in play in the last two frames, scoring 11 goals to the bakerymen's three. A. Frank and Ab. Frank were top scorers for the tribesmen with four goals apiece.

The game at the enclosure saw the sailors with a 3 to 2 lead after the first quarter of play. After that, however, they found it extremely difficult to plant the ball between the pipes, while Conservatives went ahead to build up a fine lead that carried them through to victory by a good margin. Entwistle and Baker were the top marksmen for the winners, scoring six and five goals respectively. All the scoring for the other side was done by Malin and Renton.

Brynjolfsson and Ditchburn refereed.

In a wire to Timmins Dome Mines and Toronto Ulster United, the eastern finalists, Davidson gave the clubs option of beginning their best-of-three game series either next Saturday or Saturday, July 30.

Burns and Stevedores Open Important A Division Series Tonight

The A section softball playoffs will get underway this evening at Athletic Park when Victoria Longshoremen and Burns Shamrocks open their best-of-three game series for the right to battle Camerons for the section championship. The game will start at 6:15.

The great fight for playoff positions came to a finish last night when the Longshoremen, through the splendid two-hit mound performance turned in by Husky Bill Tesky, gained a 6 to 0 verdict over MacDonalds at Sidney. The defeat wrecked the Macs chances of getting into the playoff picture and gave the stevedores a game advantage over the third-place Shamrocks in the regular schedule.

V.L.A. and Burns still have one game left to decide the runner-up to Camerons. This game will be played at a later date.

TESKY SHINES

Tesky, the 220-pound ace twirler for Longshoremen, was in his finest pitching form last night. Throughout the nine innings he allowed only two bingles and breezed 14 batters who paraded to the plate. Gunn, who started on the hill for the losers, was sent to the showers in the third, following a four-run attack by the freight jugglers. Byers was called in to halt the Longshoremen and made a good job of it, allowing only one run during his stay on the hill. From the combined offerings of Gunn and Byers, Longshoremen batters collected nine hits.

Score: V.L.A. 6-0 MacDonalds 0-0

Batteries—Tesky and Dunnett; Gunn, Byers and Lines.

NORTHWESTERN WIN TITLE

Northwestern Club softballers were crowned C section champions by virtue of the 5 to 4 victory they secured from Hollywood Club at Victoria West Park. Both teams played tight ball.

Score: Northwestern 5-0 Hollywood 0-4

Batteries—A. McBride and J. Tillyer; Richards and Cosler.

Art Tourand's circuit knuck in the ninth with two men on, gave Colwood an 11 to 9 victory over Young Liberals in the opening game of the B section finals at Central Park. Going into the last of the ninth, the Colwood boys were trailing, 9 to 7, but Tourand's home run in this session furnished them with the deciding runs.

Score: R. Liberals 9-11 Colwood 1-9

Batteries—Leonard and J. Belis; Blisborough and H. Milliken.

In a women's league fixture Adverts won from Hollywood Club by default.

GASMEN LEAD BY TWO GAMES

Defeat Victoria Club 7 to 5 To Take Over Rithet Cup Leadership

Manager Roy Barnes's Pitzer and Nex baseball squad ran its winning streak to four straight last night when they defeated the Victoria Club, 7 to 5, at the Athletic Park to climb into the leadership berth in the Rithet Cup city championship series two full games ahead of the clubbers.

The gashouse gang was never headed all night. They pushed across three runs in the opening frame, only to have the Victoria Club even matters up in the last of the third. In the next session, however, Pitzer and Nex put the game in the cooler with a four-run attack. Victoria Club managed to get two more runs in their half of the fourth, to finish the scoring of the match.

Lonnie Murray allowed only nine well-scattered hits during his nine-inning stay on the hill for Pitzer and Nex, while Lloyd Cann, Victoria Club's speed-ball twirler, was nicked for 11 bingles. He fanned 10, while Murray breezed eight.

Score: Pitzer & Nex 7-5 Victoria Club 5-7

Batteries: L. Murray and Kinneer; Cann and Given.

Umpires: Newman and Malcolm.

GAMES ON SATURDAY

Port Angeles baseballers will invade the city on Saturday to meet the local All-stars in a pair of matches to decide the winner of the Hon. John Hart Cup series at the Athletic Park. The first game, is scheduled for 2:30 and the second game at 6. The Port Angeles club won the first game of the series 10 to 0 last Sunday on their home diamond.

The following local players are asked to be in attendance for both of Saturday's games: Murray, Walker, R. Maitland, Jones, Kinneer, Kawabarra, Condon, T. Restell, Harris, Robertson, A. Barnes, Casey, George, Blake, T. Maitland, C. Restell and S. Dunc.

Explain Ruling On Empire Bouts

LONDON (CP)—The British Boxing Board of Control announced today it had no objection to Empire championship contests being held in any part of the Commonwealth.

The board declared a wrong interpretation had been placed upon a recent statement relating to the elimination fight between Maurice Strickland, New Zealand champion, and Larry Gains, Toronto negro.

On July 13 the board issued an edict that if the managers of Strickland and Gains do not arrange for a final eliminating bout for the British Empire heavyweight championship by August 10, it will circulate all managers and promoters suggesting a closing date, the fight to go to the best bidder.

Five days previous the board issued a similar edict calling for a bout between Tommy Farr, present champion, and Eddie Phillips of England.

"The board wish to be known they don't make it a condition of matches declared by them for Empire titles must take place in Britain. The board would welcome contests taking place in any part of the Empire, provided the contests are properly organized and controlled by a recognized-controlling body."

SETS TRACK RECORD

EDMONTON (CP)—Broadway Breeze, a hot favorite owned by J. Dapper of Calgary, equaled a track record he set last August 11 to win the Diamond Jubilee Purse, feature event of yesterday's card at the Edmonton Exhibition.

The time for the seven furlongs was 1:28. Prince Pagan closed fast to take second, beating out Roman Marcus by half a length.

Ketchikan Repeals Its Picketing Law

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — After presentation of a petition signed by 200 residents asking repeal of the recently enacted ordinance regulating picketing in the city, the city council last night repealed the measure by unanimous vote. Councilmen said they felt the ordinance was no longer needed since the cannery labor crisis, existing when the law was passed, had passed.

Chicago Cubs' set of three brain trusters, which couldn't do a thing about hitting slumps and pitching failures, and which did not particularly impress the rest of the National League, gave way today to a two-man board of strategy headed by the county fair guy, Gabby Hartnett.

Hartnett went to work today on a job he had lost hope of getting.

Steadily for two years—until late yesterday when he announced Charlie Grimm's outright release—owner P. K. Wrigley had said his next manager would not be chosen from the club roster, that none of the players would be elevated from the ranks.

Wrigley even had asserted a willingness to release the 37-year-old Charles Leo when the veteran catcher's name was mentioned prominently for manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds.

But Gabby, Wrigley now says, is the man "who could do the most for the Cubs." The owner of the Cubs added that he had lost a lot of sleep over his athletes' misfortunes this year. Wrigley said Grimm "had done a great job," but that a change would be "best for the organization." Grimm will be paid until his contract expires December 31. Somewhat downcast, the jovial former first baseman left for his Missouri farm and hoped to make some connection with another Major League club.

GRIMM SILENT

He succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager August 2, 1932, and piloted the Cubs to pennants that year and in 1935. His only comment on his release was a brief "that's baseball." He had a broad grin and a slap on the back for his close friend Hartnett.

The unveiling of the large figure of garrulous Gabby as head man of the Cubs, succeeding "Cholly" Grimm, overshadowed the rest of a busy baseball picture, which included the Yankees-Indians doubleheader for the American League lead in Col. Jake Ruppert's big ball yard, and the game-and-a-half grip the Pirates held in the senior circuit chase.

The Cubs, famous for years for changing horses in midstream, did it again in loading Grimm's woes on the 220-pound frame of the big fighting Irishman.

But in the background, somehow, you see the quiet figure by the other half of the board of strategy, "Talkless" Tony Lazzeri, and you wonder how he fits into the picture. There's the angle that Gabby is getting the chance because he deserved it, but think back to last October, when Tony signed with the Cubs, and recall that tongues were wagging all over the place then.

Shawnigan Cradled High In Hills

Is a Miniature
Mountain Resort

Far from the echoes of the busy world, yet only 30 miles from Victoria, Shawnigan Lake lies cradled in a long valley in the hills. To go up into those hills is to leave behind the salt air of the sea and to breathe instead the spicy perfume of the pines; to go to Shawnigan is to leave sea level and, at an altitude of 500 feet, find all the benefits of an invigorating mountain resort.

The way to the lake is a winding road that leaves the Malahat Drive midway to the summit and vagabonds through the moist, fresh stillness of the woods to catch the glint of water far off through the trees. There is an alternative route that includes the balance of the Malahat Drive, passing over the summit and down to Mill Bay. The turn-off is a mile or so past the Queen Alexandra Solarium. This choice of two roads makes an ideal drive for a day's outing from Victoria.

The lake is about five miles long, and at its widest about a mile. At the southern end are many small islands where sunny glades carpeted with pine needles and ferns tempt picnic parties. To the north the valley broadens and the waters slip into the gentle North Arm. It is at the northern end of the lake, hidden away under the willows, that the waters search for freedom in a small creek that wanders away to the sea. Secluded bays break the shoreline, revealing themselves to the leisurely boatman or to the patient fisherman who casts his line for the fine trout lurking in the shadows. There are rushes and reeds and water lilies to drift among and idle hours to spend watching the dragon flies on the lily pads and the gray fish scuttling under the stones in warm teeming pools of life. From the farms round about the cows with little tinkling bells come down to the lush grass near the water's edge, and at evening the perfume of the sweet gale drifts on the breeze.

THE HOTEL

In perfect harmony with the undisturbed beauty of the lake is the Shawnigan Beach Hotel, among the pines close to the water's edge. The hotel is one of the finest resorts on Vancouver Island, and possesses an unusual collection of rare Chinese prints and porcelains, which form a subtle contrast to the virgin countryside round about. The spacious lounge, with its great stone fireplace, emanates an atmosphere of charming hospitality. For the diversion of its guests a "pitch-and-putt" golf course has been laid out on the grounds. There is also a good tennis court. At the hotel landing are many boats and canoes. Bathing is ideal, and for the more venturesome swimmers a aquaplaning is provided. There are saddle horses to be hired, and days may be spent exploring in the hills.

Around the lake shore are tempting paths. The Silvermine Trail, about which many fascinating tales are woven, the thing of beauty that is the path to Burnt Ridge; the way to the top of Malahat Mountain, and

GUEST HOUSE

Nestling amid the trees above the northern end of the lake, Rosedale Inn catches the final glory of the setting sun. Colors that deepen to reds and violets and greens in an unforgettable splendor. This semi-private guest house has accommodation for a limited number only. The quiet beauty of the inn is restful, and the wholesome, well-cooked food is excellent. Here is a perfect spot for rest and quiet.

Whether a week-end is spent at Shawnigan or a longer summer vacation, the lake is always regrettably left behind when the time comes to depart.

Resthaven's Place of Beauty

Where the great Saanich Highway swings out and around the end of the Saanich Peninsula there is a secluded inlet of the sea that beckons to vacationists to linger and perhaps stay. Unemployed Await Move At Kamloops

Decision By Men to "Sit Tight"; Government Says They Broke Faith

KAMLOOPS (CP)—About 200 unemployed held a meeting here this morning to consider what they should do in face of the British Columbia government's decision that they would be cut off relief if they continued to travel in large numbers.

The men, who arrived Tuesday from Vancouver, have been provided with lodging in a livestock building and have managed so far to eat.

Last night they decided to "sit tight" after hearing of the Victoria decision.

Earlier yesterday some of them registered for work when it was planned to give 225 three-day jobs on roads around Kamloops, Vernon and Kelowna on highways.

The presence of such a large number in one centre, however, made the government decide to withdraw the offer. Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said that unless the men "can prove to us they are moving around the country in a manner in which they might expect to find work, they will not be given relief under the latest scheme."

He said the men, moving in such large bodies, could not be considered to be seeking employment as agreed upon when they were in Victoria.

JOBLESS SPEAK
A spokesman for the jobless replied:

"What has transpired proves that the government thought that if they gave us $6.40 we would break up our organization and disperse to highways and byways to starve. Slight analysis proves the nonexistence of the thousands of jobs that were said to be waiting."

Four unemployed, from a party of 100 traveling to Penitence to join 50 others already there, arrived here last night with a story of being forcibly removed by police from a freight train at Hope.

A group leader said that some men who left a freight at Ashcroft and asked around the station if there were any jobs available "were laughed at."

None of the men were paid their relief cheques yesterday. Arrangements supplying temporary work at $3.20 per day was also canceled on instructions from the labor department at Victoria. The offer, it was believed, had been made in contemplation of only a small number of men arriving here.

Transient unemployed were not affected by the "search for work" clause. Men from other provinces are being given relief at 43 cents a day until they are subsequently shipped to their home provinces sometime before August 15.

The City Council of Kamloops was frankly worried about the situation, although the men promised they would be law-abiding, as they were in Victoria. The council, however, fears they may become hungry and desperate.

Mayor S. E. Scanlon, in a telephone conversation with the Minister of Labor, said "there's liable to be trouble," unless government relief for the men was forthcoming. Mr. Pearson informed the mayor of the government's stand that no relief would be given unless the men proved they were looking for work in a manner in which they might be expected to find it.

The government considers that single unemployed men, who invaded Victoria early this month, have broken faith with their agreement by remaining in Vancouver for 10 days and then moving in organized groups to interior towns so they could collect their second relief cheques. Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor said this morning:

"The men have been advised that unless they show bona fide efforts to get work individually they will get no assistance from us," Mr. Pearson said.

The labor department was advised this morning by the government relief officer at Kamloops that five haying jobs were offered the leader Tuesday night and the offer was ignored. When asked about it, the leader said he had been so busy settling his men that he had forgotten to pass on the offer of the jobs.

The first 28 men who applied for relief at the Kamloops office, the agent told the Minister of Labor, were offered jobs on farms, but refused, saying they were miners and loggers and unfit to work on farms.

The men said they had remained in Vancouver for 10 days in the hope that more fire-fighting jobs would be forthcoming in the Campbell River area, where a large number of unemployed men are now engaged.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Single unemployed will stay in Kamloops and Penitence until they are positive the British Columbia government plans to carry out its decision of withholding relief unless the men disband, Vancouver jobless reported today.

"The men up country are destitute," John Matts, secretary of the Relief Project Workers' Union said. "They have no funds to leave Kamloops in search of work."

"Announcement of the government that it will not live up to its agreement with the boys brings back the unemployed situation to its status of two weeks ago," he said.

At that time 850 jobless converged on Victoria to demand a works program.

Leaves City To Join Air Force
James R. Walker, 2567 Estevan Avenue, former Edmonton boy, will leave Victoria Saturday night to join the Royal Air Force.

On his way east he will stop off in Edmonton to visit his parents before sailing from Montreal on August 5.

Born in England, Walker received most of his flying experience in Edmonton and secured his entry papers for the R.A.F. shortly after his arrival here a few weeks ago.

PRIZE FOR HOME NAME

Attorney-General Offers $50 Reward For Best Name For New Institution

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer today offered a $50 prize to the young person of British Columbia, 25 years of age, or under, who would suggest an acceptable name for the new Burnaby home, operated on the Borsal system, for youthful, first-time offenders.

Mr. Wismer, who has taken a personal interest in the 25 young men in the home is anxious to build it into one of the finest institutions of its kind in western Canada.

He feels the home should have a name far removed from any suggestion that it is a penal institution. It has been suggested it be called "Wismer Hostel," but the Attorney-General says such a name is definitely not to be considered.

The institution was opened some months ago in the former home for incurables at Burnaby, following representations to the government from the John Howard Society and other organizations of Victoria and Vancouver which felt that youthful criminals for their first offences, should not be confined in jails with hardened criminals.

At the recent gathering of law enforcement officials in Vancouver, Mr. Wismer gave an address on the home and the fine work already being done there to make the youthful offenders honorable citizens again. Representatives of many Pacific Coast cities said they hoped to follow British Columbia's lead in the treatment of young offenders and asked Mr. Wismer's advice in the matter.

The advisory board of the institution will be the judges in the contest and names should be sent to George A. Grant, the secretary at Burnaby.

Light Penalty For Pawnbroker
Kenneth A. McLeod, who pleaded guilty in the City Police Court yesterday to a charge of demanding a sum for a loan other than specified in the Pawnbrokers' Act, was fined $5 by Magistrate Henry Hall this morning.

William J. Bellew, jointly charged with McLeod, was dismissed.

The light penalty was the result of McLeod's having made an agreeable settlement with the man who pawned the diamond ring and who subsequently laid the charge. The magistrate said yesterday he would consider this if McLeod would undertake a settlement.

Alberta Picnic Attracts Many
Annual Outing Held at the Gorge; R. W. McLung Elected New President

Approximately 400 Albertans gathered at the Gorge B.C. Electric Park to attend the second annual Alberta picnic yesterday. The outing which is an outgrowth of the former Calgary's picnic was open to all former residents of Alberta now resident here and to all tourists from that province.

Letters of congratulation were read from Premier William Aberhart and Mayor Andrew Davidson of Calgary after which a brief address was given by W. R. Ridington, chairman of the Saskatchewan picnic committee and guest of honor at the Alberta gathering. Mr. Ridington issued an invitation to the Saskatchewan picnic to be held at Mount Douglas Park next Wednesday.

Rev. A. R. Schrag, B.A., D.D., also spoke briefly recalling early days in the province. Rev. Mr. Schrag is occupying the pulpit at Centennial United Church here for the summer.

After the scheduled children's races, nominal titles were awarded to E. F. Rix as the oldest native born former resident of the province and to F. R. Exham as the oldest settler in the province.

At the close of this ceremony nominations were opened for a new executive. R. W. McLung was elected president. J. E. Runions retained his position as secretary. Members of the executive board follow: A. O. Johns, Gordon Cameron, J. M. McCall, Messrs. McBeth, McAllister and McMahon.

Three new teachers were appointed to Oak Bay's elementary schools at a special meeting of the municipal school board last night. They are J. Roberts, formerly of Fernie; Miss Noreen Creelman, from Pender Island, and Miss Hilda Knight, from Garrett.

TOWN TOPICS

The body shop of The Motor House, at Vancouver and View Streets, was entered last night and a half dozen sets of car keys stolen, according to a police report.

A special delegation from the Teamsters' Union last evening attended the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council and contradicted a report that the Truck Drivers' Union had broken up.

Bank clearings in the city for the week ending today were $1,740,144, according to a statement issued by the Victoria Clearing House. Figures for the corresponding period last year were $1,945,851.

At a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last evening, the local carpenters union requested the council to inquire into the recent bylaw passed by the City Council in which any organization other than a religious one, has to gain permission from the Chief of Police to hold a parade.

It was reported at a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council last evening that the Relief Project Workers' Union would remain as strongly organized as before, and the council was assured that any member of the single unemployed group would work only under union conditions. Help was asked in paying a funeral bill of one of the single unemployed who died while the men were in Victoria.

Ian Gillespie, 1326 Manor Road, a cyclist, suffered a cut on the back of his head which necessitated his removal to hospital in an accident at Rockland Avenue and Royal Street yesterday afternoon. A police report said the youth was in collision with a car driven by Elizabeth L. Garrett, 1737 Hampshire Road. He was taken to the Jubilee Hospital by W. C. Van Munster, Moss Street, a passing motorist.

STRUCTURE OF MUSIC SHOWN
Material, Form and Execution Illustrated at Summer School

How an appreciation of music could be obtained through the study of the three basic divisions of every work of art—material, form and execution—was told to the Victoria Summer School of Education this morning at the second of the series of "Listening Hours" being presented at Victoria High School.

Miss Mildred McManus conducted the hour, illustrating her words with piano and violin pieces and recordings played on the Carnegie Foundation machine.

The material in music, she said, was tone, the easiest factor to appreciate because its effect was chiefly sensory.

Form was melody, with shape, onward flow and pauses, obeying the rules of variety and unity. As illustrations of this she gave the "Londonderry Air," first as a violin solo, then played by the Hart House Quartette.

This was followed by two movements from Beethoven's Fifth Symphony to illustrate how a fundamental motif tied a piece of music together.

Melody, she continued, could not exist without rhythm. In some cases the rhythm fascinated the listener more than the melody. As an example she gave the "Ritual Fire Dance."

Harmony was a relatively recent addition to music, Miss McManus said. As examples she gave "All Through the Night," played with two different harmonies, and "Drink to Me Only," covered over with a harmony so complicated that not all the audience could recognize the tune.

The final two pieces played during the hour were the "Dance of the Chinese Doll" and the "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" to illustrate the effect of the special qualities of certain instruments.

CONCERT ENJOYED
Last night the teachers attending the summer school enthusiastically applauded another of the delightful concerts of the Seattle Symphony Woodwind Trio and a program of songs by Dudley Wickett, Victoria tenor, accompanied at the piano by Miss Maquinn Daniels.

The Seattle trio is made up of Frank Horsfall, flute; Whitney Tustin, oboe, and Ronald Phillips, clarinet. Gladys Bebeau Phillips is its piano accompanist. Its program last night included works by Gennaro, Hue, Wetzel, Gulhaud, Debussy, Rameau, Beethoven, Rimsky-Korsakoff and Grofe.

Mr. Wickett's selections were "Summertime on Bredon," Schubert's "Impatience," Stanford's "Trotting to the Fair" and "Marching Along," by Jules Harrison.

B.C. Lumber Export Alone Shows Gain

Washington and Oregon For First Six Months Note Decrease in Shipments

British Columbia alone in the Pacific Northwest lumber district, which includes Washington and Oregon, increased its export of lumber during the first half of 1938, compared with the same period of last year.

From January 1 to June 30, this province shipped a total of 582,624,044 board feet, compared with 538,035,837 in 1937, an increase of 8 per cent.

Washington shipments dropped 42 per cent and Oregon shipments 8 per cent, to make a total decline of 20 per cent.

Conditions of war in the Orient contributed largely to the decrease in the export of Northwest lumber for the first half of this year.

An increase in shipments to the United Kingdom offset the decrease in shipments from this province to China and Japan.

BIG JAPAN DROP
Export to Japan dropped from 18,833,083 feet in 1937 to 4,822,253 feet for the same period of this year.

Shipments to China fell from 25,308,949 feet to 19,433,896 feet. On the other hand shipments to the United Kingdom increased slightly, from 324,648,789 feet in the first half of last year to 368,938,079 feet for the same period of 1938.

British Columbia shipped in the first half of this year a total of 516,890,087 board feet, compared with 77,362,477 feet from Washington and 81,316,498 feet from Oregon, according to the report of the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, filed today with the forestry branch of the Department of Lands.

MANCHUKUO TAKES MORE
Japan took only 29,764,927 feet from B.C., Washington and Oregon in the first half of this year, compared with 128,137,641 feet in the same period of 1937. China dropped from 94,000,000 to 49,000,000 feet. Shipments to Manchukuo grew from 2,269,330 feet to 5,486,279 feet.

The total export from B.C., Washington and Oregon for the first half of 1938 amounted to 1,583,424,313, compared with 1,983,460,107 feet for the same period of last year.

Next to the United Kingdom the country using the largest amount of B.C. timber so far this year is Australia, which in the first six months took 66,000,000 feet. The United States took 55,000,000. Germany took 2,500,000 and Holland 1,806,000. New Zealand imported 4,952,000 feet. Africa took 20,335,000 feet.

Figures show that this year Egypt and Palestine took 5,231,000 feet, where they imported none in 1937.

Burns Club Holds Its Annual Picnic
A large number of members and their friends were present yesterday at the annual Burns club picnic held at Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jameson's place on the Sooke River. Buses left the city at 1:45 and the picnicers returned in the evening at 9:45.

A fine program of sports was run off during the afternoon, including a number of novelty events. There was a thread and needle race, pop and bun and banana-eating contests, horseshoe pitching, deck quoiting, ladies blindfold race and swimming and diving.

Supper was served on the Jameson estate. Eleanor Moffat, sponsored by the Scottish Societies in the "Miss Victoria" contest, was present.

Imperial Veterans' President Resigns
At a general meeting of the British Imperial Comrades' Association held last night, the resignation of Major J. B. Harling, M.C., from the position of president was accepted with regret.

Plans were made for the annual picnic of the association to be held August 7 at Elk Lake. Members were urged to contact the secretary in order that transportation can be arranged.

It was reported that application has been made for a sub-chapter from the Dominion centre of the organization in Vancouver. The scroll will arrive in time for the next meeting. Members are urged to attend its reception and the election to fill present vacancies on the executive board.

Plans were made to hold the annual ball at the Empress Hotel late in October. J. F. Seed, past president, was elected delegate to the provincial convention in August.

Saanich Highway Named Secondary
By order-in-council, passed by the cabinet this week, Glenora Avenue and parts of Carey Road and Douglas Street, to the city limits at Tolmie Avenue, were declared a secondary highway.

An agreement between Saanich and the provincial government stated the cost of repairs to this highway will be shared by the government and the municipality. Repairs will be carried out before March 31, 1939, at a total cost of $3,000, and will include widening, ditching, surface shoulders and replacement of culverts.

Following the completion of repairs, the classification as a secondary highway may be rescinded by the government, the agreement says.

NANAIMO (CP)—A bush fire today roared close to a group of new homes in the former Aquarium Foundation property near here. Close to $100,000 has been spent on homes and improvements in the area.

Firefighters said they planned to set a backfire to stop the rapidly-advancing blaze.

All other fires in the district were reported under control.

Contest Lead Changes Hands

Miss Jean Wilson Advances to Front in "Miss Victoria" Race Today

The lead in the "Miss Victoria" contest which is being staged by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce to select a young lady to preside over the August celebrations this year and to act as Victoria's official representative at the San Francisco World's Fair next year, changed hands again this morning, with Jean Wilson, MacDonald Electric entry, advancing to the top of the list.

Although figures were not available today, it was reported by Don McIntosh, publicity manager of the contest, that two other candidates are following close on the heels of the leader, Eleanor Moffat, sponsored by the Scottish Societies, is in second position, while Doreen McGregor, Beaux-Arts entry, yesterday's leader, is only short distance behind Miss Moffat.

Kay White, United Commercial Travelers' candidate, is in fourth place, and Elyllis Addison, Blue Lane entry, is fifth. Public Services' entry, Jean Bishop, is next.

The votes are pouring in faster now at the Junior Chamber of Commerce celebration offices, and several changes in the standings are expected before the contest closes on Saturday.

Managers of candidates and their supporters are working at top speed now in a determined effort to secure as many votes as possible for their favorites.

First prize in the contest will be $150 cash value, second $100 cash value and third $75 cash value.

Rotarians Hear Club Organizer
The Rotary Club had as its guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting today at the Empress Hotel, Constable Ron Eveleigh, organizer of the Junior G-Men at Vancouver.

Constable Eveleigh claimed there was a need of a similar organization in every city, to prevent crime among the younger members of a community.

The Junior G-Men began with 17 disorderly boys and had since grown into thousands throughout Canada. The speaker stressed the need of a similar organization in Victoria to curb growing juvenile delinquency.

In the organization, both physical and mental exercise is practiced. Every kind of hobby was taught to the boys and girls.

G. Hamilton Harman was in the chair. He introduced the main guests, who included Mayor Andrew McGavin, Magistrate Henry Hall and Chief of Police J. A. McEldan. A number of visiting Rotarians and guests were also introduced.

Former residents of Saskatchewan will hold their third annual basket picnic and sports at Mt. Douglas Park on Wednesday afternoon, July 27. A cordial invitation is extended to visitors from Saskatchewan.

The United Services Institution of Vancouver Island will hold a luncheon on Thursday next at 12:15 in the Empress Hotel, in honor of Vice-Admiral S. J. Meyrick, K.C.B., commander-in-chief, America and West Indies station; Capt. H. E. Morse, D.S.O., and officers of H.M.S. York. Those members intending to be present are asked to notify the secretary, M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett.

Rotarians Hear Club Organizer
The Rotary Club had as its guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting today at the Empress Hotel, Constable Ron Eveleigh, organizer of the Junior G-Men at Vancouver.

Constable Eveleigh claimed there was a need of a similar organization in every city, to prevent crime among the younger members of a community.

The Junior G-Men began with 17 disorderly boys and had since grown into thousands throughout Canada. The speaker stressed the need of a similar organization in Victoria to curb growing juvenile delinquency.

In the organization, both physical and mental exercise is practiced. Every kind of hobby was taught to the boys and girls.

G. Hamilton Harman was in the chair. He introduced the main guests, who included Mayor Andrew McGavin, Magistrate Henry Hall and Chief of Police J. A. McEldan. A number of visiting Rotarians and guests were also introduced.

Former residents of Saskatchewan will hold their third annual basket picnic and sports at Mt. Douglas Park on Wednesday afternoon, July 27. A cordial invitation is extended to visitors from Saskatchewan.

The United Services Institution of Vancouver Island will hold a luncheon on Thursday next at 12:15 in the Empress Hotel, in honor of Vice-Admiral S. J. Meyrick, K.C.B., commander-in-chief, America and West Indies station; Capt. H. E. Morse, D.S.O., and officers of H.M.S. York. Those members intending to be present are asked to notify the secretary, M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett.

SCENERY WILL NOT BE RUINED

Expert Says Hollyburn Ridge Project Need Not Alarm Vancouver People

Logging on Hollyburn Ridge, on Vancouver's north shore would in no way damage scenery for the people of Vancouver, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, was informed this morning in a report filed with him by L. C. Rodgers, independent logging engineer who was engaged by the government to make a survey of the operations there by a Los Angeles syndicate.

Many Vancouver people felt logging operations in the hills across the water from their city would make bare the hillside and ruin the scenery. Representations made said the government should consider the purchase of the ridge to save it for posterity.

Mr. Rodgers in his report said logging could not be carried on profitably at the present time because of market conditions which would mean a loss to the owners.

The syndicate which is now working there has offered to sell its holdings to the government, but Mr. Gray this morning declined to say what was the government's attitude regarding the purchase.

The Story of Rubber IV - FOREST EXPLOSIONS

More than 200 kinds of trees, vines and small plants produce latex, the milky juice which provides our rubber. In most cases, however, the rubber yield is not large enough to make it worth while to raise the trees, vines or small plants on plantations. Planters obtain rubber from several kinds of trees, but not from a very great number.

Malay women looking at strips of crape rubber before shipment.

Best of all rubber trees today, the same as a century or two ago, seems to be the Hevea tree, and I wish to make a few special notes about it today.

Most Hevea trees have trunks from one to two feet thick, and are from 30 to 70 feet high. There are some, however, of much greater size. In the Amazon forests some of these trees have a height of from 100 to 125 feet, and trunks three or four feet in diameter.

Next to the latex which travels through the tubes or "vines" in its bark, the most interesting thing about the Hevea tree is the way its seeds behave.

Oaks have acorns which squirrels like to eat. Often the squirrels hide the acorns in holes in the ground, and sometimes they forget to go back to get them. In that way, it is made possible for the acorns to sprout and grow next season. Squirrels have helped to grow our oak forests.

Other trees use many "tricks" to spread their seeds. Some produce lightweight seeds which are taken from place to place by the wind.

The Hevea tree has exploding seed pods! Yes, that word "exploding" is just the right one. Gas gathers inside the pod. Then there's a noise, and the pod bursts open.

The pods are about the size of goose eggs, and in each pod there are three seeds. When the seeds are ripe, you might suppose a battle was going on in the forest. Pop-bang! Pop-bang! The seed pods are shooting.

They do shoot! The seeds are hurled to a distance of from 60 to 100 feet. The reason for the popping or shooting is to send the seeds far enough away from the parent tree to give them room to grow.

To grow well, Hevea trees need a good deal of heat, but not too much, a good deal of rainfall, some moisture in the air, but not too much. Ceylon and certain parts of the mainland of southern Asia give what is needed. The Malay peninsula has proved an excellent home.

During the past five years, the world output of rubber has been about 850,000 tons per year. Most of it has come from Asia, some from Africa, only a small part from Brazil.

HOROSCOPE

Friday, July 22, 1938
Contending planetary influences may be strong today, according to astrology. While benefic aspects are active there is likely to be a feeling of uncertainty and indecision-affecting many human activities.

Girls may be peculiarly susceptible to the planetary influences which cause confusion, unrest and discontent. Regular work that requires adherence to strict routine is recommended.

As the summer wanes the tendency toward reckless romance and sentimental vagaries may be even more marked than in the springtime. Women of all ages should beware of hasty acceptance of suitors.

In the stars are read warning that men of all ages will woo carelessly. One of the portents of war is seen in the tendency to forget traditional rules governing love affairs.

Many scandals are forecast for the end of the year. Men prominent in world affairs will marry suddenly or seek fiancées of different social status from their own.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good luck. For the most fortunate long journeys are indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be intensely ambitious and energetic. Subjects of this sign usually gain what they desire, for they are most persistent in their efforts, social and professional.

HOLLYWOOD ROMANCES - PHIL AND JO REGAN

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX-Is it safe and in good taste for parents to permit their 16-year-old daughter to go to public dance halls unaccompanied, or am I, the father, not modern enough? Is a 14-year-old girl considered sufficient as a chaperon to the above 16-year-old?
PARENT NEEDING ADVICE.

Answer: No. Emphatically no to both questions. It is not safe or in good taste for any young girl to go to a public dance hall without having some responsible older person go with her and look after her, because naturally in a public dance hall there are many men who are highly undesirable acquaintances for any young girl. A 14-year-old girl is no chaperon at all, because she knows even less about taking care of herself than the elder girl.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX-The question is being hotly debated in our office. Will you settle it for us? Are blondes more fickle than brunettes? Are blondes less to be trusted than brunettes? Are blondes less loyal in love than brunettes, and do they resort to trickery in winning men?

WONDERING.

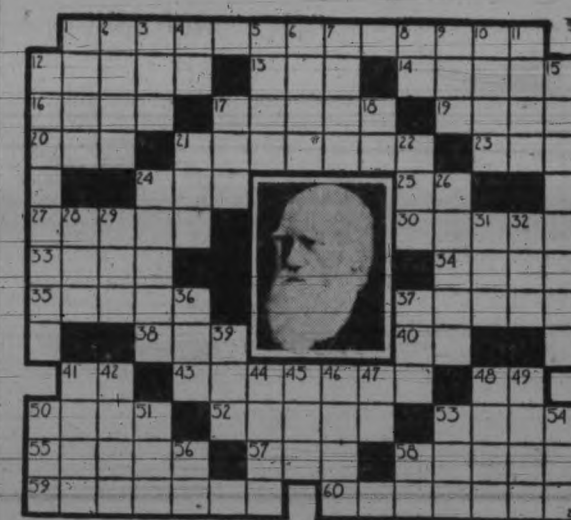

Answer: Anita Loos says that gentlemen prefer blondes, and she made her irresistible blonde a gold-digger, who was a cheerful worker. Miss Loos explained that she did not refer to the color of the girl's hair and complexion, but to her soul, which was blonde, if you get what she means. But I don't think you can judge a woman's character by her coloring.

I have known brunettes who were hold-up artists and girls with golden locks who were as unselfish as angels. I have known olive-skinned girls with black hair and dusky eyes who were as meek as Patient Griselda, and girls with rose-leaf complexions who were as tempestuous and temperamental as they make them.

You have to judge a girl by her character and disposition, not by the pigments that nature puts at the roots of her hair or under her skin.

DOROTHY DIX.

GAIN IN CAR REGISTRATIONS

OTTAWA (CP)—Motor vehicle registrations increased 79,578 in Canada in 1937 over 1936, the total being 1,319,702, against 1,240,124, Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

All provinces recorded gains over the previous year, the percentage of increases being as follows: Prince Edward Island 5.0, Nova Scotia 8.4, New Brunswick 10.1, Quebec 9.0, Ontario 5.7, Manitoba 7.9, Saskatchewan 2.7, Alberta 3.1, British Columbia 9.7 and Yukon Territory 9.7.

Despite the gain in number of vehicles registered, revenues were lower, amounted to $25,933,905, compared with $26,493,922. The drop was accounted for by a decline in Ontario's registration revenues, due to the decrease in rates. Canada's nine provinces reported higher collections of the gasoline tax which totaled $38,373,947, compared with $34,532,436.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores or any drugstore a package of Hemoroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemoroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

COACH LINES

Gets Medal For 50th Crossing

L. B. Stiles of Montreal Honored By Officers of Empress of Canada

When the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, Capt. W. T. Kinley, which will sail tomorrow on her return trip to Hongkong, was on her last inward voyage from the Orient, Staff-Capt. J. Bisset Smith, on behalf of the ship's company, presented a medallion to L. B. Stiles of Montreal, Far Eastern representative of the T. Eaton Co. Ltd. of Toronto, to commemorate his 50th crossing of the Pacific aboard Canadian Pacific Empress liners.

The medallion was fashioned in solid brass by Chief Engineer Dave Smith, of the Empress of Canada, and his staff.

Mr. Stiles travels almost constantly throughout the Far East and back and forth between Canada and the Orient. Whether "coasting" between Shanghai and Hongkong or Hongkong and Manila or traveling from Japan to China or across the Pacific, officers of the Empresses are always glad to see the genial Montreal buyer whose humorous sallies have become by-words up and down the Pacific.

Usually "Sam" Stiles piles the steamer paths alone in search of rare objects of art, or silks and tapestries for Canadian shoppers, but at other times he is accompanied by Mrs. Stiles, who shares his flair for travel and geniality.

Presentation of the medal to Mr. Stiles was the occasion of a happy gathering productive of many mutual compliments and much good feeling, and Mr. Stiles served warning on the officers of the Empress of Canada that he would soon be back for his "100th crossing" medallion.

HELSINGFORS, Finland (AP)—Two Finnish vessels were seized by Russian authorities yesterday off Seiskari Island in the Gulf of Finland, presumably on the grounds the ships entered Soviet waters.

U.S. Corn Crop Is Estimated

CHICAGO (AP)—The United States farm belt's flourishing business with the rest of the world in corn approached all-time record proportions today as the new 1938 crop, with an estimated market value of almost $1,500,000,000, neared a tassel stage under generally favorable growing conditions.

Since last October more than 105,000,000 bushels of United States wheat have been exported, grain experts said, adding that the exports probably would total 140,000,000 to 150,000,000 bushels for the crop year which has three months to go.

BOY SCOUTS HEROES OF DARING RESCUE

On Knapp Island Scoutmaster Jack Fawcett, 1923 Davie Street, took charge. While the boys assisted Mr. Harrison to get warm, Mr. Staples was taken to the home of Mrs. J. S. Harvey.

In explaining the cause of the accident as told him by the two men, Scoutmaster Fawcett said this morning they were on their way to Pier Island to Mr. Harrison's home when their boat capsized. They had come from Stevenson on the ferry and were going to the island in Mr. Harrison's boat which had been left on the beach at Swartz Bay for several days in the sun.

The intense heat had apparently opened the seams of the rowboat which the men saw was leaking after they were out of the bay.

TRIED TO SAVE SUITCASE

There were two suitcases in the boat and as one of these was being placed on a seat to keep it dry it had apparently slipped overboard. One of the men made a grab to try and save it and in doing so capsized the boat.

Clinging to the upturned boat the men drifted for about half an hour, the strong tide-rip running past the bay carrying them down to Canoe Pass and near Knapp Island.

Scoutmaster Fawcett warmly praised the work of the three boys. He said it had required careful manipulation to bring the two men aboard without capsizing their own boat and they did it in a creditable manner.

The Amazon River still has not been explored up all its tributaries.

Ss. Uffington Court should be in tomorrow to commence stowing lumber for the Atlantic coast.

Ten Years' Silence Woman's Sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sentence of 10 years' silence concerning the private life of Simone Simon, petite French film actress, was imposed on Sandra Martin, the star's former secretary, when she was saved from a state prison term yesterday by superior judge A. A. Scott.

Miss Martin, convicted on three counts of forging the name of her former employer, must serve nine months in the county jail, however.

If she violates the strange 10-year probation order, Judge Scott set forth, she will be sent to the women's prison at Tehachapi for from 3 to 42 years.

Hepburn Not For New Party

EDMONTON (CP)—The Edmonton Journal today said that Premier Hepburn of Ontario in an interview had declared himself "a permanent Liberal, a monetary reformist and a friend of the western provinces." The Journal added that Mr. Hepburn had said that:

He has no intention of leading or aiding any new political party in Canada.

He is no admirer of Prime Minister King and will not follow his leadership, but he is and will remain a Liberal.

He still stands for monetary reform as he did when he spoke in 1935 in support of Mr. King.

He has no ambitions whatever for federal leadership. "Mr. Duplessis (Premier of Quebec) and I are very close friends," Ontario's premier said when he was questioned about his recent quick trip to Quebec by air amid an atmosphere of mystery. "We find it a big help to work together on some matters which we have in common, like uniform regulations on mining and newsprint industries."

But this talk of a new party is all wrong.

ROWELL COMMISSION

Asked about his submission to the Rowell Commission in which he said the east should not have to support the west and alleged the west was largely responsible for its own plight, Mr. Hepburn declared he had made out his case for Ontario, as premier of the province, to defend the province against the allegations of western provinces.

The western submissions, he emphasized, had been laid before the commission first and in his brief he was answering charges which had been made against his own province.

"The people who support me are the rural people, the farmers, who buy in a restricted market and sell in the open market just as you people in west must do
